MARKET COMMENTARY

Global equities finished the second quarter higher, as markets brushed off April worries about slowing economic data and pushed ahead in May and June on soft-landing hopes and tamer inflation in the U.S. The MSCI World Index rose 2.78%, with North America and Europe up 3.80% and 0.92%, respectively, while Asia Pacific fell 2.15%. The S&P 500 Index gained 4.28%, as enthusiasm about artificial intelligence fueled gains for big technology companies. The 10-year U.S. Treasury yield increased to 4.40%, from 4.20% at the end of March. During the quarter, a slowdown in the Federal Reserve's preferred measure of underlying inflation bolstered the case for lower interest rates later this year. West Texas Intermediate Crude Oil finished the quarter at $81.54, down from $83.17 at the end of the first quarter, while the Bloomberg Commodity Index rose 2.89%.

Real Estate Securities Down for the Second Consecutive Quarter

The FTSE EPRA Nareit Developed Index declined 2.15% in the second quarter of 2024, bringing the year-to-date return for the index to -3.17% for the first six months of the year.

During the quarter there was a meaningful amount of dispersion among U.S. property types. Health care stocks rose more than 10% during the period; and residential companies were up nearly 8%. However, deteriorating fundamentals and sentiment among industrial landlords and hotel stocks resulted in declines greater than 10% for both property types during the quarter.

Portfolio Positioning and Outlook

The overall investment environment for real estate is showing signs of improvement. Supply and demand fundamentals remain supportive for moderate net operating income growth across most property types. The decline in property values over the last couple years appears to be bottoming. Anecdotally, transaction activity is beginning to pick up and is becoming competitive, particularly around higher quality assets.

Slowing inflation and the end of the Fed tightening cycle should ease pressure on valuations. REITs have exhibited positive relative performance following interest rate peaks. We see the potential for the out-of-favor asset class to post relatively positive returns as the interest rate environment normalizes.

In the U.S., we maintain a preference for needs-based real estate, which includes residential, health care and select retail assets. Data center demand remains robust and we are positioned accordingly. We maintain a more cautious view on the industrial sector, but believe fundamentals are showing signs of bottoming. The office sector also remains challenged broadly; and we have concerns around the impacts of the lodging sector as U.S. consumer spending slows.

We have increased exposure to Europe and have a favorable view broadly, particularly among residential, retail and specialty landlords in continental Europe. Within the U.K., we are focused on the student housing sector and what we believe are high-quality retail assets.

In Asia Pacific, we believe Japanese property values may benefit as some private investors indicated they're likely to deploy meaningful amounts of capital in the region over the next several years. We also think leisure assets will continue to benefit from the flow of international travelers. In Hong Kong we are primarily focused on residential developers and retail companies, but we are beginning to see value emerge for office landlords. In Australia, we favor companies with defensive cash flow characteristics.

A fund's investment objectives, risks, changes and expenses must be considered carefully before investing. The prospectus contains this and other important information about the investment company, and it may be obtained by calling +1 (212) 549-8380 or visiting www.brookfield.com. Please read the prospectus carefully before investing. Investing in the Fund involves risk. Principal loss is possible. There can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective.

The Fund will be closely linked to the real estate market. Property values may fall due to increasing vacancies or declining rents resulting from unanticipated economic, legal, cultural or technological developments. REITs are dependent upon management skills and generally may not be diversified. REITs are subject to heavy cash flow dependency, defaults by borrowers and self-liquidation. The Fund invests in small and mid-cap companies, which involve additional risks such as limited liquidity and greater volatility.

The Fund invests in foreign securities which involve greater volatility and political, economic and currency risks and differences in accounting methods. These risks are magnified in emerging markets. Some securities held may be difficult to sell, particularly during times of market turmoil. If the Fund is forced to sell an illiquid asset to meet redemption, the Fund may be forced to sell at a loss. Investments in debt securities typically decrease in value when interest rates rise. This risk is usually greater for longer-term debt securities. Debt securities rated below investment grade are commonly referred to as "junk bonds" and are generally more volatile, less liquid, and considered speculative. Since the Fund will invest more than 25% of its total assets in securities in the Real Estate industry, the Fund may be subject to greater volatility than a fund that is more broadly diversified.

The FTSE EPRA Nareit Developed Index Net (USD) is a free float-adjusted market-capitalization weighted index that is designed to measure the performance of listed real estate companies and real estate investment trusts (REITs) in developed markets. Investors cannot invest directly in indices or averages, and their performance does not reflect fees and expenses or taxes except the reinvestment of dividends net of withholding taxes nor represents the performance of any fund. The Net benchmark presented is calculated on a total return basis net of foreign withholding taxes on dividends, and does not reflect fees, brokerage commissions, or other expenses. Net total return indexes reinvest dividends after the deduction of withholding taxes (for international indexes), using tax rates applicable to non-resident investors who do not benefit from double taxation treaties.

Indexes are not managed and an investor cannot invest directly in an index. Index performance is shown for illustrative purposes only and does not predict or depict the performance of the Fund.

Tracking error measures the difference between a portfolio's returns and its benchmark. Sharpe ratio is a measure of the excess return to the risk-free rate (or risk premium) per unit of risk (measured by standard deviation) in an investment asset or a trading strategy.
